

Commission Info

Would you like a painting of your pet or is there a specific animal that you would like to have painted for you? Commissions are available! Keep reading to find out more.

Materials

All paintings are done in acrylic and on a 1.5" deep gallery canvas. The sides of the canvas are painted so there is no need to frame your painting. If you would like to frame your painting, regular canvases are available so please specify when ordering.

Sizes

There are many sizes available, the most popular sizes are listed with prices below. If there is a specific size that you would like but is not listed, please contact me with your request. Please keep in mind the subject you wish to have painted and how well it will work on the canvas size you have chosen. For example, if you have chose a large animal and would like the full body, a small canvas will not give the impact you are looking for and much detail will be lost.

Guarantee

From the beginning, I like to work with you to make sure that you are completely happy with your painting. If the photo you have supplied is of poor quality or the size you have chosen is not the best option for your painting, you will be advised from the start you will not receive a painting that is not the best quality it can be. Once a painting is started and you are not happy with the progress of your painting, we can work together to get it to where you would like to see it by making necessary changes. If you still are not pleased with your painting, a complete refund will be offered.

Payment

You may pay by VISA, Mastercard, cheque or PayPal. A 50% deposit is required upfront. Taxes are not included in canvas prices.

Delivery Time

Due to my schedule and workload, ordering a commission should be done as soon as possible to ensure that it can be done to meet your needs. If I feel it can't be done on time, I will let you know as I don't like to rush a painting and jeopardize the quality and your satisfaction with the final product. A tentative date of completion will be given upon ordering. A painting normally takes a week to two weeks to complete once it has started.

Shipping

Commissions are accepted internationally. Shipping expenses are extra. Paintings will be sent to you by Canada Post unless you have a shipping company you would prefer or have an account with. Shipping costs will depend on where they are being sent to and costs will be determined before the painting has been started. If you live in the area, I may be able to deliver the painting to you personally.

The Process

If you are commissioning a painting I need good, clear photos to work from. You can e-mail me your photos or I can use hard copies of photos too. Send a few options to choose from and try to choose pictures that best capture the personality of your pet or the animal you have chosen. Low res photos are good to send initially but I will need a good quality photo to paint from to get the best results. If the photo is of poor quality, I may not be able to use it. Remember, this is your painting. When choosing a photo, ask yourself if this is how you would like your pet or animal to be immortalized.

Once I have received your photos, I will suggest which ones I feel will work best and make a mock composition of the painting in Photoshop showing a suggested size, layout and colours you have chosen. Once you feel we are ready to proceed you will be given your completion date and you will be sent status reports and photos of your piece so you will be able to see the progress.

When the painting is finished I will email or mail an invoice for the other 50% of the painting's cost. I will send or deliver your painting immediately on receipt of the second payment.
